

Vaccine Prioritization At a Glance (last updated January 8, 2021)

This document offers a quick visualization of which states have identified people with intellectual and developmental disabilities (I/DD) and direct support professionals (DSPs) in high-priority tiers for receiving the COVID-19 vaccine. Cells in green indicate that the state has identified the stated population as high-priority, whereas cells in red indicate that the state has not done so. Cells in yellow indicate that the state's language is either vague or that it identifies populations with significant overlap (e.g., those at high risk or with underlying medical conditions).
